The name of The Crescent Hill Old-Fashioned Fourth of July will stay the same in 2009 but nothing about our much-loved neighborhood event is behind the times or out-of-date!

So much new stuff has been added that we had to include the Fifth of July to fit it all in. That's right. In 2009, the Fourth of July festival will be two days long.

TWO days to take pleasure in the Arts and Artists, and to enjoy talented musicians on not one but TWO stages. Crescent Hill's own musical historian and story teller, John Gage, will tape his Kentucky Homefront radio show on the Fifth. We've even doubled the Port-a-Potties!

But the best of the Old-Fashioned Fourth of July fun won't change at all. We still have: The vintage car and fire truck parade. Tons of traditional amusement for the kids: miniature golf, inflatables, and (new this year) pony rides. The Cake Wheel, Plant Booth and Pet Show. Free Parking at the Seminary with free Trolley Rides to and from the event.

The air-conditioned Peterson-Dumesnil house will offer an exhibit of neighborhood history and a silent auction. Old-fashioned bratwursts, hot dogs, cold drinks, ice cream and popcorn are on the menu, and the 5K Fun Run still will be fast and furious fun!

A sure bet is that the main attraction of the evening, the FIREWORKS, will be bigger and better thanks to our neighborhood sponsor, First Capital Bank of Kentucky.

How do we do it? With YOUR help. And as the event gets bigger and better, we need MORE help. Market this event to your friends and family. Stay in the neighborhood. Volunteer your time and talent. Sponsor a musical stage. And please bake or buy at least one cake per family for the cake wheel fun.

A Word from Our Sponsors They Make It All Possible

First Capital Bank of Kentucky and Wakefield-Reutlinger & Co Realtors

First Capital Bank of Kentucky is proud to, once again, sponsor the Crescent Hill Old Fashioned 4th of July celebration. We look forward to another great event at Peterson-Dumesnil House!

At First Capital Bank, we believe in building strong personal and business relationships by providing customers with the high level of customer service that can be found in a local bank. We opened our doors in Louisville in February, 1996, and it is rewarding for us to see our progress in helping people realize their goals and dreams by meeting their financial needs.

In October, 2007, we opened our fourth branch in Crescent Hill. We dedicated ourselves to helping the community grow through offering residential mortgages, small business loans, and great rates on personal banking products. Our employees are wonderful volunteers and they have supported many Crescent Hill community efforts.

Wakefield, Reutlinger and Company Realtors is proud to be one of the main sponsors of the Crescent Hill Old Fashioned 4th of July Celebration. The Brokers and Sales Associates are excited about their participation and have made this the venue for their 2009 Client Appreciation Party. Not only are they inviting their friends and clients to join them for some good old fashioned fun, they are graciously hosting the hospitality for the Arts and Music Festival segment providing the artists and entertainers with snacks, beverages and much-needed breaks throughout the 2 day event. Wakefield, Reutlinger understands the importance of supporting vibrant neighborhood traditions and recognizes that the Crescent Hill picnic and fireworks celebration is a perfect example of why Louisville is a great place to call home. The Wakefield, Reutlinger Family says
"Bravo, Crescent Hill, for giving us such a wonderful hometown event!"

Celebrate the Silver 25 years

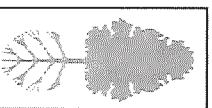

The foundation that operates the Peterson-Dumesnil House – to preserve it and make it useful to the neighborhood – was formed 25 years ago this year.

It will celebrate that anniversary on Sunday, July 5, as part of the second day of the Crescent Hill Old Fashioned Fourth of July Celebration. Please join us at 2 p.m. in the music tent, to the left of the front door of the venerable edifice, to hear some appropriate remarks and meet some of the people who transformed the house into one of Louisville's landmarks..

Afterward, cake will be served inside.

Welcome New Council Representatives

Dumesnil District has two new reps. Welcome to Gary Conklin, long time Crescent Hill resident and frequent past contributor to the newsletter and Cullen Lowery who moved to Crescent Hill from the Washington DC area four years ago.

Rollin' Down the Avenue on Two-Wheel Tuesday

by Joe Ward

If Kirk Kandle has his way, you soon will begin noticing increased numbers of cyclists in the Frankfort Avenue corridor on Tuesdays from now on. Kirk works in the marketing department at Humana, and was involved in generating Humana's "Freewheelin'" program, which lends Humana employees bikes to make trips on errands around town.

He and some others came up with the idea of "Two-Wheel Tuesdays," an ongoing event that will attempt to attract cyclists to Frankfort Avenue businesses on Tuesdays, when traffic ordinarily is slow. A sort of Tuesday version of FAT Fridays, only involving bicycles instead of trolleys. He and others tossed the idea out at a Frankfort Avenue Business Association meeting, and there was enthusiastic response.

Two-Wheel Tuesday features are still being developed, but they could involve special incentives for arriving on the avenue by bicycle, special bicycle parking, t-shirts, logos, fun. Watch for it. Ride your bike down Frankfort on Tuesdays and see who else shows up.

Book Review

A Pearl in the Storm

by Tori Murden McClure

If you should run into Tori Murden McClure, say at Blue Dog Bakery & Cafe where she and some of her friends plotted out at least one of her two solo rowing trips across the Atlantic Ocean, my advice to you would be not to ask her why she did it. You can get an impression from reading A Pearl in the Storm, her new book on the subject, that it is a question that annoys her. It's really too complicated a question to answer in a casual conversation, and one she has had difficulty answering at length, not least of all in the North Atlantic in early September, 1998, when Hurricane Danielle was beating her severely inside her little boat, the American Pearl. When a boat rolls completely over on its top, that's called a capsizing. The American Pearl was designed to right itself after capsizing, and it did that five or six times on Sept. 5. Then the boat got to pitchpoling, which is when it goes end over end.

Tori Murden McClure

Of course, this is a tough lady. She got a bad rep in school because, when other kids would pick on her brother, Lamar, she'd beat them up. It caused her parents to move her to her grandmother's place in Louisville, and send her to Louisville Collegiate School. She went on to Smith College and to Harvard Divinity School, and University of Louisville Law School. In short, she was quite academic for a person bouncing around the interior of a small boat by herself in a hurricane.

Ultimately, she had to hit the panic button and be rescued, which put her into a fairly serious funk. But she had a lot of support from a lot of friends, including rowing buddy Barry Bingham Jr., Muhammad Ali, and Mac

McClure, a former director of Bernheim Forest, who helped her rebuild her battered boat for a second crossing attempt in 1999. She reached an American shore under her own power at the conclusion of that trip, and then married McClure.

The book gives all the details, more so of the first, more dramatic trip, and lets the reader get some insights into a complex, very capable and quite interesting woman. You might even find out in there why she did it. But if I were you, I wouldn't ask.

A Little History

CHCC 4th of July Celebration

by Barbara Koch McGee

The CHCC Old Fashioned 4th of July Celebration began in 1978 as the Crescent Hill Homecoming and Bar-B-Que. First held on Sat, August 26, 1978 at the Peterson-Dumesnil House, there were pony rides, games for children, horseshoes, art exhibits, antique cars, a fire engine, cake wheel, music and bar-b-que.

In September, 1981 the first National Neighborhood Day Celebration was added. It was the idea of Steven Imhoff, Event Chair and Past President. In September, 1982, a Neighborhood Run and the Spelling Bee, co-sponsored by JCTA were two new exciting features. About 2000 people attended.

In 1984, the homecoming was held on July 4th to commemorate the Centennial of the incorporation of Crescent Hill. Historian Sam Thomas presented a slide show detailing Crescent Hill 100 years ago, its annexation by Louisville in about 1900 and other neighborhood lore. The high point of the 7th annual homecoming was burying a time capsule next to the front porch of the Peterson-Dumesnil House. The capsule was a piece of plastic pipe 4-feet long and 15 inches in diameter and contained a grab-bag of items reflecting Crescent Hill's life and times. The event earned $1,500 to support the council. The fundraising drive to buy the Peterson-Dumesnil House was almost finished, according to William Schuetze, president of the Foundation.

The 8th annual Crescent Hill Homecoming was celebrated on Sat, August 31, 1985. New that year was a bakery booth, along with beer and soft drinks. The first official Old Fashioned 4th of July Celebration was in 1986.

The free event was family-oriented, a chance for neighbors to get together. The fireworks show attracted about 3,000 people. Proceeds were split between the Community Council and the Peterson-Dumesnil House Foundation.

In 1995, the event was officially recognized by the City of Louisville as one of the TOP 4

FESTIVAL.S in the metro area.

This year the event will be two days, July 4th and 5th with more artists, music and fun! Stop by the Peterson-Dumesnil House to learn about our history. Maybe you can add something. I can be contacted via email at Historian@crescenthill.us, or you can call me at 502-893-9691.

Volunteer Sign Up Here!

by Lorie Ann Jacobs

My friends, the 4th of July will be here before we know it. The Crescent Hill Community Council members have been diligently working on this year's event. Art fairs have been scoured for the best in the region, permits have been requested, the bands are scheduled, and the trolleys are back! But there is so much more to do, and we need YOU! Our annual event is TWO DAYS this year, July 4th AND 5th. Not everything will repeat on Sunday, but there will be a lot going on and we need volunteers. Please consider not only giving your time, but help us spread the word.

Tell your neighbors, friends and family what a great event it is and ask them to serve with you. Previous volunteers know it's definitely more fun than work, and there is a swanky little picnic to honor volunteers after the 4th, usually the next weekend. Looking forward to the fun and fireworks!

Cake Wheel Booth Needs Dough

by Cabrina Bosco

And where it stops, nobody knows! The wheel starts spinning at noon on the 4th of July and goes until the cakes are gone. Folks gather at the boards placing dimes on their favorite numbers. (YES, DIMES!) Of course, for specialty cakes it is a 25 cent - $1.00 coverall on one board.

The Cake Wheel raises funds for the Community Council so that they can put on spectacular events. But we need cakes.

- Bring a cake, a pie, cookies, cupcakes, donuts, brownies, or bread on the July 3rd or 4th.
- Donate cash for the purchase of baked goods.
- Call or go to Bussman's Bakery at 1906 Frankfort Ave. (893-3822) or Kroger's on lower Brownsboro Rd. (897-1133) to place an order by July 1st. We will pick up your donation.

By the way, Bussman's Bakery locally operated by Nancy Amos, has supported the Cake Wheel Booth for the last 12 years. She bakes all her cakes and cookies from scratch.

They are good!

Count on Making a Difference Participate in the 2010 Census!

Lorie Jacobs, a resident of Crescent Hill, works for the Federal Government at the National Processing Center for the US Census. She takes a lot of ribbing for being a Federal employee, but she knows that the census is important and wants to encourage everyone to participate in the 2010 Census. Here she answered some questions about the 2010 Census.

What is the census form like? "This year everyone gets the short form. In the past some households received very long forms with questions that puzzled people. They wondered, 'Why in the world would anyone have to know THAT?' Lorie said. "If you complete and mail back your census form immediately, you will save taxpayers money (that's you). The Census Bureau is tenacious about getting responses. If we don't get the first form back, we will mail another and if we still don't get a response we pay other trusted citizens to come to your house and gather the information. That's expensive. And don't worry about the Census worker; We are sworn to not disclose census information for LIFE, not just after we separate from the Department of Commerce. We take that stuff to our graves!"

What is the information used for? "Census information is not just used for the percentages you hear on the national nightly news, like housing or unemployment statistics. There are also state, regional and local factors that affect us every day. When we experienced the wind and ice storms last year, the census informed us about the numbers of people concentrated in one area. Areas with lots of nursing homes and hospitals most likely got attention first. Looking at Census information also helps determine where schools will be built and what areas of town get street and highway money. Income levels tell us how much assistance the school free lunch programs will get."

Many people mistakenly think that all federal agencies have the same information. That is NOT TRUE. Lorie says that it is illegal for the Census Bureau to share information like social security numbers and employer ID numbers with other branches of the federal government.

So, when 2010 rolls around and you get that Census form in the mail, be confident that the information you provide will help not only your country, but your state, region and neighborhood. That school that needs extra money may benefit from the information you provide. The part of town you drive to most may get a wider road or a new road, and that neighbor you know who perhaps needs free lunches for her kids could possibly receive it based on your participation. Ad Lib Joe Ward

You should meet Miriam Forinash. She's the 50-ish woman who has been attending council meetings for the past few months, sitting about halfway back, smiling, not saying much. She looks to me like a young Betty Voit.

She is a retired academic advisor from Indiana University Southeast, and a bright, energetic woman who fortunately is a real sucker for the right recruiting pitch. She's your new editor.

Miriam lives on Richard Avenue, and is now a bona fide Crescent Hillian, but she grew up in St. Matthews, off Rudy Lane. She's a graduate of Westport High School -- which is now a middle school, through no fault of hers -- and she has a master's degree in education from the University of Louisville. While she was working on that, she did an internship at IUS, where she got all caught up in a student development center that helped students who weren't ready for college level math and English, and the next thing she knew, it was a career.

Miriam Forinash

Along the way, she married Kyle Forinash, who teaches physics at IUS. When he took a sabbatical in Argentina in 2006-2007, she had 25 years in, so she retired and went with him. They traveled in academic circles there, and it was good.

Back in Louisville, Miriam got out her list of things she wanted to do when she retired. One was learning to weave, so she got involved with the Little Loomhouse, which needed an editor for its newsletter.
